A fiberglass-reinforced core constitutes the hallmark of our fireproof panels, a cutting-edge, non-combustible product that exceeds the strict fire regulations of high-rise buildings while maintaining all of the benefits of our exterior panels. We offer a selection of finishes, including a curated palette of five colors that feature a surface texture with unique, organic variations. For projects that call for the appearance of natural wood, our Rustik finish offers the possibility of generating a facade with high fire performance while providing the natural warmth of the timber. For guidance or clarification concerning the fire regulations for your project, visit our webpage or contact us.
